Friends Together

Principal Keuther

Class of 2021,

Your senior year has been one for the history books. We have managed a worldwide pandemic that introduced our learning community to a myriad of new concepts from PPE, to social distancing, to the dreaded quarantine, to a close contact, to a one way hallway, to an up or down staircase, to asynchronous learning, to synchronous learning, to hybrid learning, and to a full return to regular school. You have been forced to develop lifelong independent learning skills that will benefit you as you transition to the next chapter of your story.

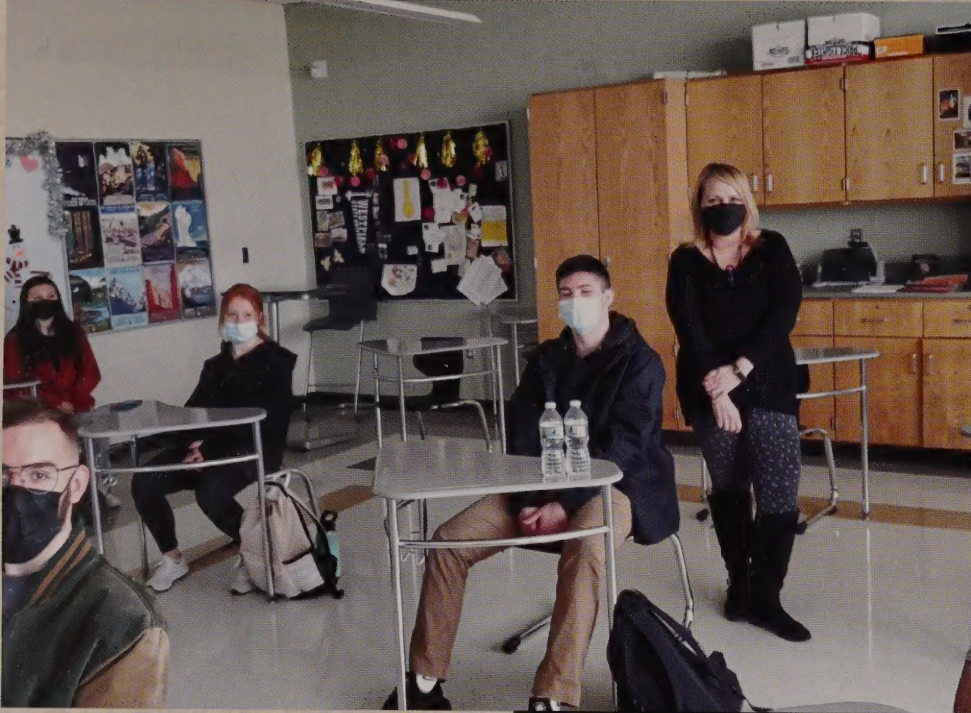

We challenged you at the start of the year to lead our school in working Together to make the best of a very difficult situation. I want to thank you for being part of the solution, for creating a school and community mindset that cares for others, that works together for the greater good and that puts others before yourselves. We trust and hope that you will bring these mindsets to our community and world to truly make a difference.

Together Marshfield you have, and will accomplish great things.

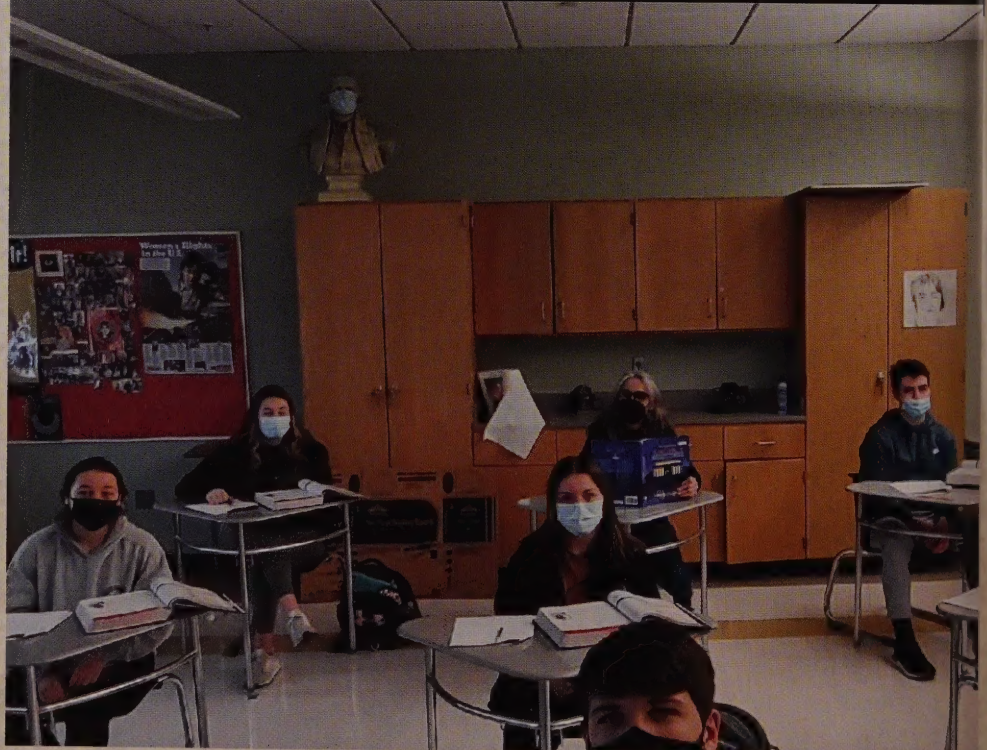

Take care,
Mr. K

Dedication

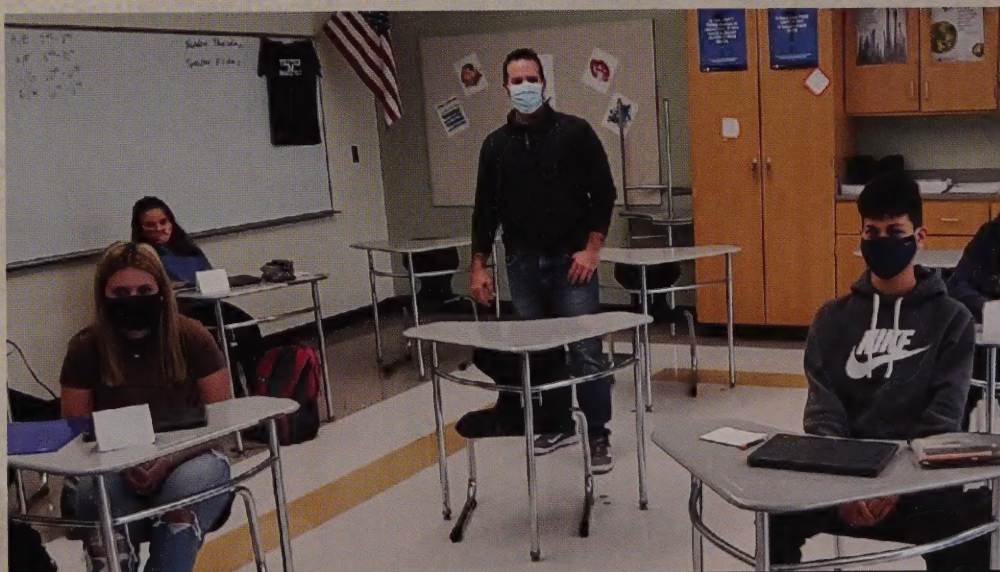

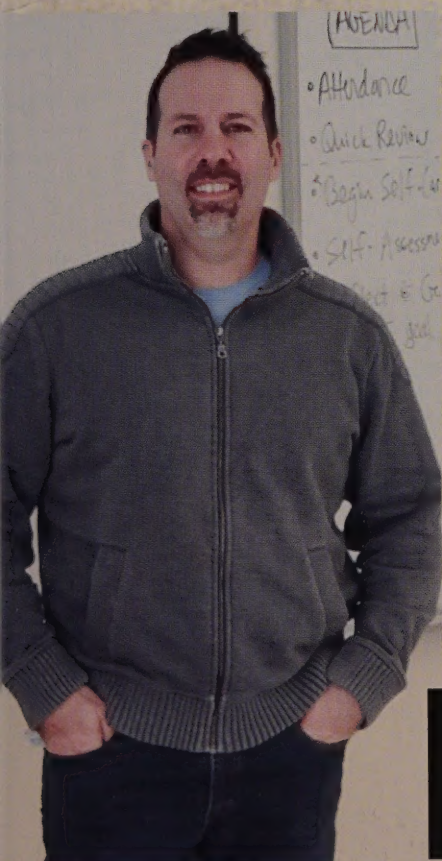

I would like to see the yearbook dedicated to Ms. Healy. She is the most passionate and enthusiastic teacher I have had in school and she deserves to be recognized for treating each day like the most important day of the year.

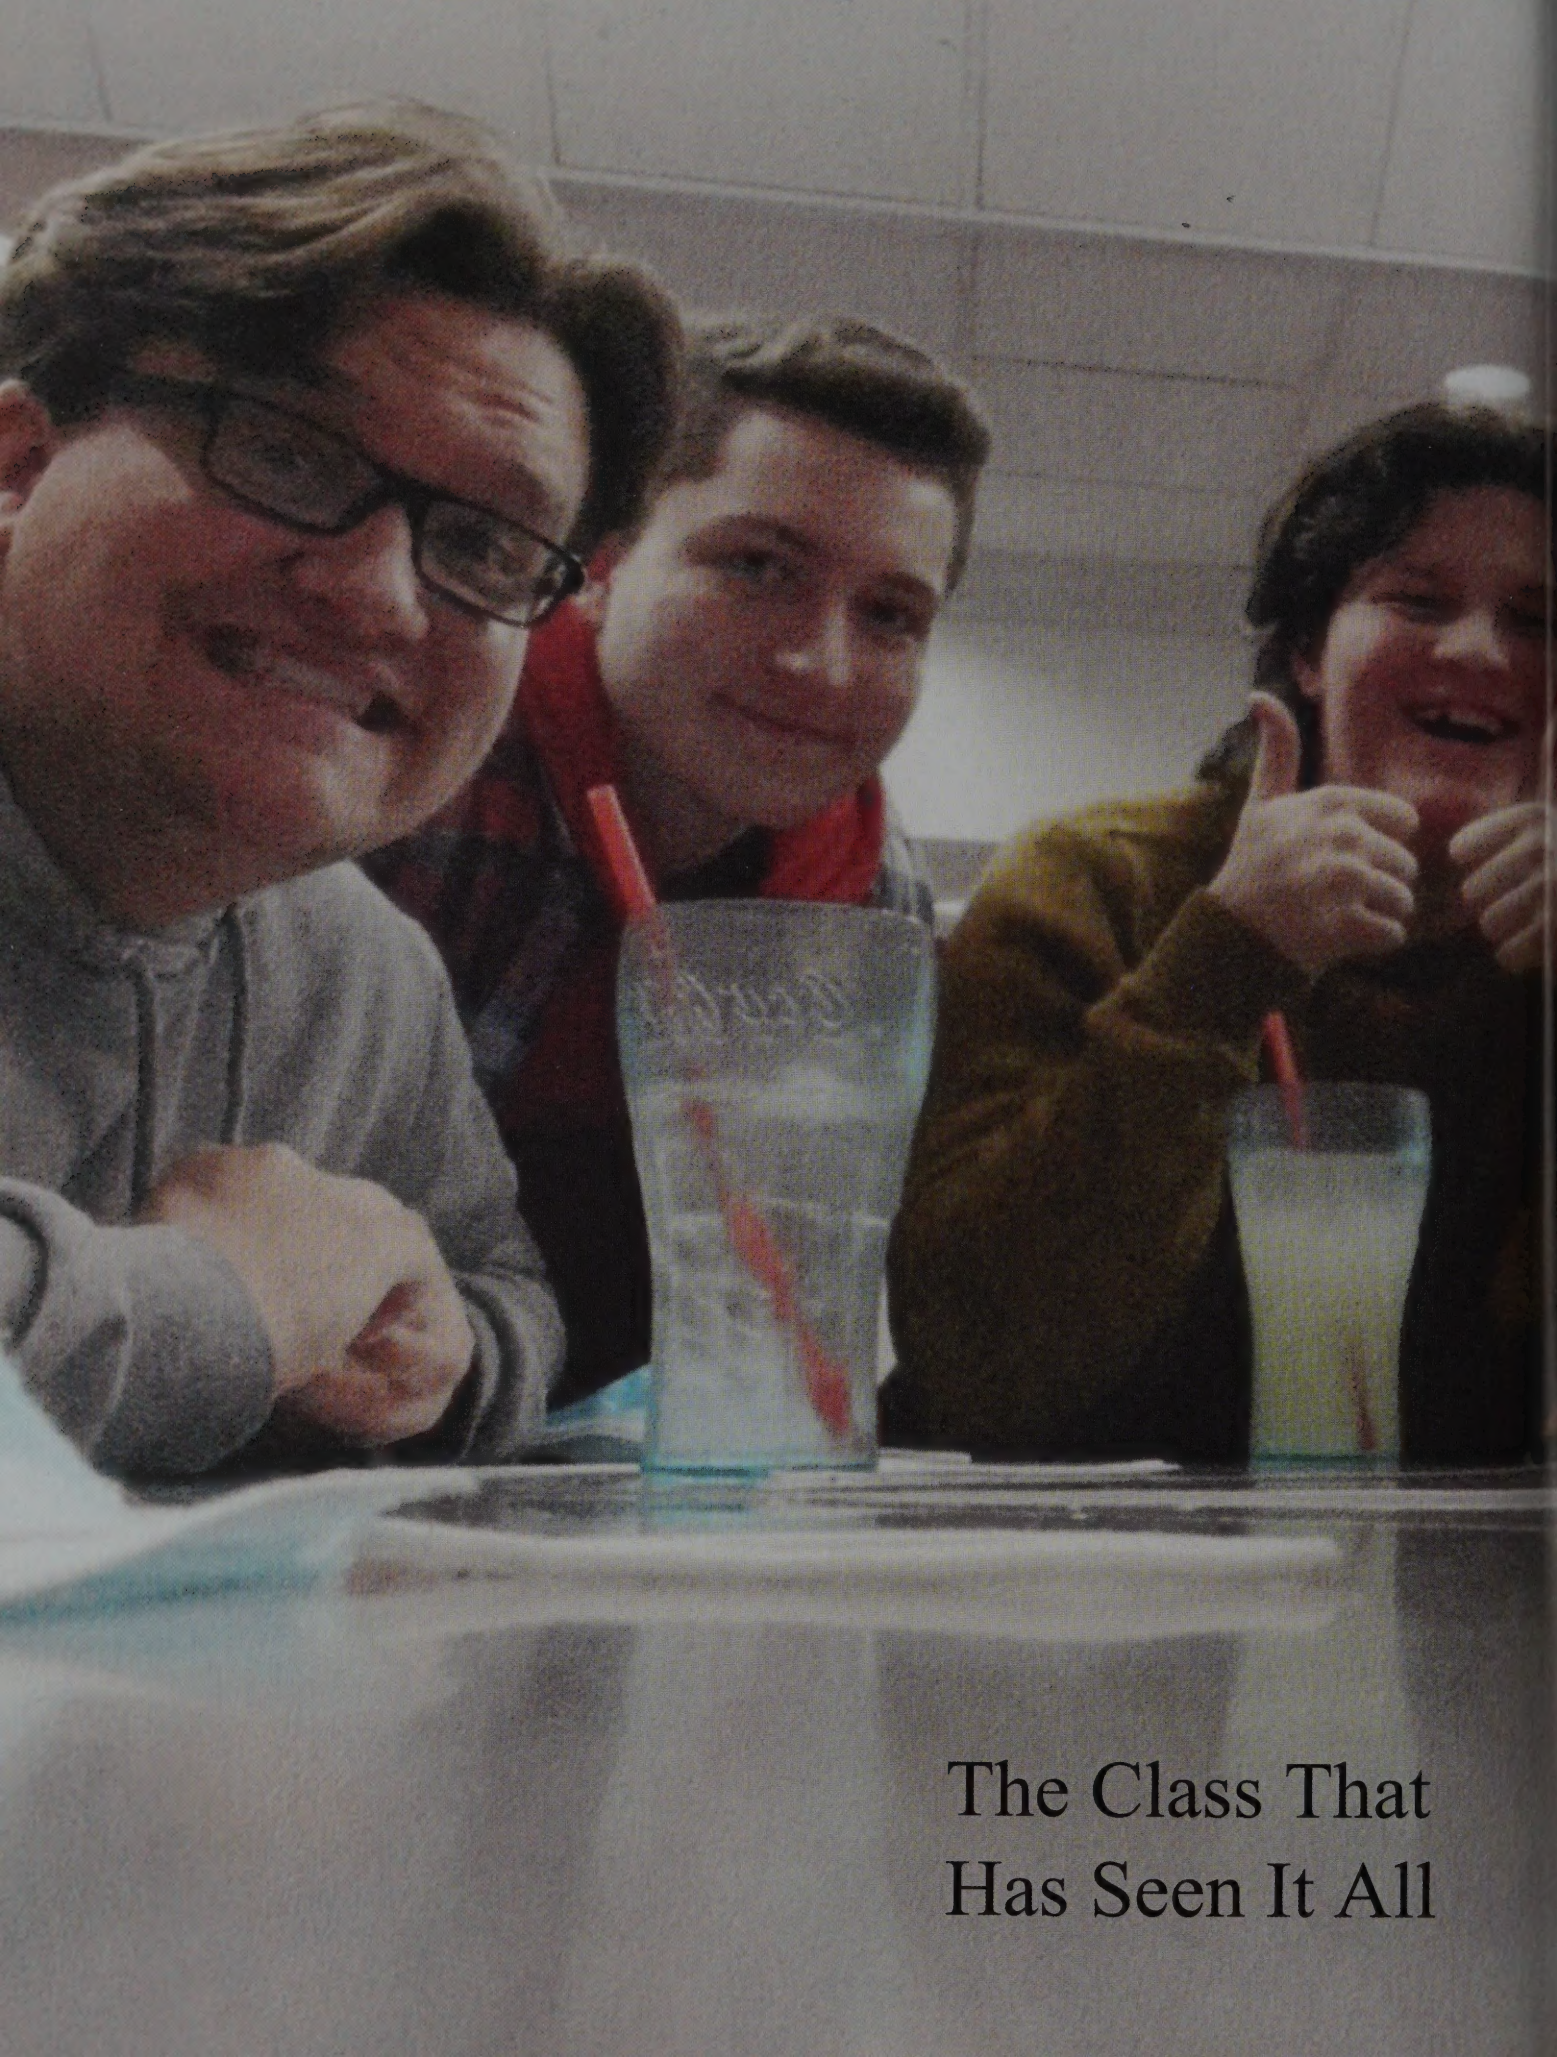

Mrs McGourty. She is one of the best teachers I have ever had and she is always smiling and so happy to be at school and teaching. She is an amazing person who makes me want to learn.

I believe the yearbook should be dedicated to Mr. Dwyer. He always makes sure students are doing well, he checks in with people all the time, and he never forgets a face. Mr. Dwyer should be recognized in this yearbook for his amazing teaching skills and personality.

The Class That Has Seen It All

An Ode to the Class of 2021

To The Brave and Noble Graduating Class of 2021,

You are about to embark on a major milestone in your life: high school graduation! And, what a year to live through such a milestone.

The world will never forget the year 2021. While last year humankind experienced an abrupt shift to life as we knew it, 2021 brings with it welcomed glimpses of hope and optimism; 2021 is the proverbial “light at the end of the tunnel.” Class of 2021, you are significant players in carrying forward and executing that light-- hope and optimism-- as you embark on your own personal journeys as adults in this world.

As your Faculty Class Advisors, we are so honored to have been a part of your high school experience. We have had the pleasure of watching you grow from timid and tentative 9th-graders to poised and resilient adults about to launch into uncharted waters. What an exciting time for you!

We recognize that the recent part of your voyage has not been an easy one. Who would have thought that terms like remote, hybrid, cohort and Zoom would be a regular part of your daily lexicon. Who could have imagined that the “new normal” would include wearing masks on a daily basis, sanitizing desks, and remaining socially distant? You have handled the seemingly endless changes, delayed events, and adjustments to your learning environments like champions. Like many of us, you have grown to appreciate the little things: small, personal victories, being with people you care about, and recognizing the exceedingly underappreciated value of time.

Time is arbitrary, but it moves faster than we would like. Your time at Marshfield High School can be measured in: 4 years, 39 months, 701 days, 4,907 hours, 294,420 minutes and 17,665,200 seconds. Although high school is only a fraction of your life, it is a pivotal time where you start to discover who you are as you make the transition into young adulthood. We can assure you that not even a global pandemic can take away the glory of such a magnificent and memorable time in your life. If anything, you are now more prepared for the future challenges you may face.

Our paltry, sage advice is this: Be kind. Self-reflect. Be good listeners. Empathize. Identify your passions and follow them with reckless abandon. You each have gifts, whether or not you recognize them just yet. Use your gifts to make the world a better place. These may be trite words, but it is so because it is true. Don't let a minute go to waste!

We will remember your class fondly as a group of young people with enthusiasm, creativity, entrepreneurship, humor, and most of all, adaptability. We have no doubt that you will leave your mark on the world, just as you left your mark on Marshfield High.

You can bet on it!

The MHS Class of 2021 History

Photos and Text by Shannon Lamon

MHS Class of 2021,

Thank you. Although our past year and a half has turned out a bit rocky, together as a class we not only pushed through, but we are stronger than ever. The transition from running Furnace Brook in eighth grade, to hardly knowing how to get to your World Cultures class as a freshman may have seemed impossible at the time, but here we are. Having been together since sixth grade, our class has known each other and their roots for years. But when we finally combined in High School, it feels like more of a family than a class.

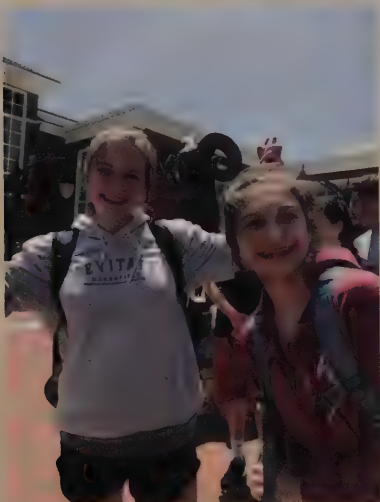

With events like Freshman Glow Night, our class' effort to reinvent Freshman Fun Night, we reunited with our middle school classmates while creating new High School friendships. With these newly made relationships, Freshman year Homecoming was even more memorable, as we got to finally dance with the upperclassmen and see the Homecoming King and Queen traditions. And before we knew it, our finals were completed, passed or failed, and it was time for our first "High School summer."

When September rolled around yet again, whether we finished reading our summer reading books or not, it was time for our Sophomore year of high school. For some this may spark memories of easy assignments and lots of free time to spend time with friends, and others may remember this as APUSH assignments, feeling lost in chemistry, and rumors of our class in debt. Nevertheless, our class came together in times like Sophomore Homecoming, Powderpuff, Marshfield Idol, and our legendary Dodgeball Tournament. As this year flew by yet again, we were out of MHS and taking our much needed time away from school.

After our last pre-covid summer, returning to school was more difficult than ever. We heard from everyone that Junior year would be the hardest by far, and they definitely did not lie. Between applying for colleges, taking SATs and simply more work than ever, the universal eagerness to finally complete our junior year was increasing. Between the third year Homecoming, Powderpuff, the 3v3 basketball tournament, and the college fair, it was hard to picture how we might be feeling as seniors ready to leave MHS once and for all. While sending our Junior friends off to Prom, it was seemingly centuries away imagining going ourselves. Had we known that faithful Friday March 13th of Junior year would be our last normal High School day, I think we would have all made it a little different.

Although looking back it may be easy to think about what we could have done differently, it is important to recognize how much we have changed in our time off. Our time away from the computers shaped us into not only better students, but better people. With ample time to grow and mature, seeing the teachers and friends we didn't even know we missed was more impactful than ever. And although missing out and rescheduling many Junior and Senior year events such as Prom, Homecoming, and others like it, its moments like our below 0 degree Senior Class Picnic and finally being able to park in the Senior lot that makes it feel normal.

Going through these past four years together, it's hard not to look around and thank everyone who's been through it with us. From the teachers who made High School fun (sort of), to the unexpected friendships formed from physics groups, MHS has been each of our foundations for what's next to come when we finally throw our caps up in June. Whether you are onto another four years in Massachusetts or across the country, or simply straight into the real world, the lessons learned at MHS will stay with us throughout our lives. Without every moment experienced over our journey, including the bad ones, we would not be the people we are today. So take a moment to sit back and be thankful for not only those around you, but for yourself and how well you've survived this more than averagely crazy journey. I guess even without Ned's Declassified School Survival Guide, we all did alright.

Finding Hills To Climb

A landscape photograph of a coastal area. In the foreground, there is a rocky, textured ground. A small cluster of dark, leafy trees stands in the middle ground. Beyond the trees, a flat, possibly marshy or sandy area extends towards a distant shoreline. The sky is overcast with soft, grey clouds. The word "SPORTS" is printed in a large, white, serif font across the lower half of the image.

XOXO

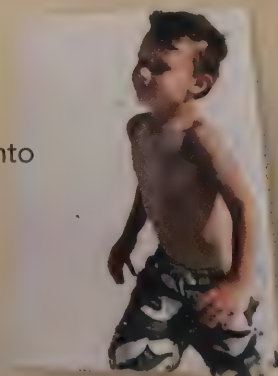

Gino Vitelli

Gino, we are incredibly proud of you!
Your never-ending unrelenting thirst for knowledge has brought you to this moment. Continue to soak in all the world has to offer.
We love you! Mum, Dad, Luca, Tony & Sal

Mike Rotondo

Michael, we could not be any prouder of you and your accomplishments!
We see you running right into your next adventure and knocking it out of the park.
Love

Matthew Zajack

Matthew,
It's so hard to believe the time has come for you to graduate high school.
How quickly it came!

We have watched you grow from a mischievous, active, adorable little boy, to an incredibly motivated, hardworking, handsome young man, who has overcome lots of change and risen to so many challenges.
Your kind, loving heart, hilarious sense of humor and passion to succeed has given you the strength and wisdom to write the next chapter of your life. It's been so much fun to see you shine and we have every confidence in the world that you will continue to achieve every goal you set for yourself.

We wish you the best of luck on your new endeavors with much health, happiness and love. You've made us all very proud!!!

Love,

Maya Corwin

Darling, most beloved girl - it has been a privilege and a terror watching you grow up. Growing up is such hard and solitary work, but it must always be a labor of love, if one is to succeed at it.

It is an arduous, steep, and bewildering climb - and girl, have you labored and have you climbed!

You have thrown your heart over every obstacle, at times joyously and at times with gritted teeth and eyes squeezed shut.

But you kept going, and the higher you went, the more assured your steps became,
and your gaze -- clear and unafraid.

You have summited this particular mountaintop, so may you soar, unencumbered and glorious, towards new and noble peaks and cloudless skies. Godspeed, Maya.

U.S. ELECTION 2020

Joe Biden was elected as the 46th president of the United States. His running mate, Kamala Harris, made history as the first woman and woman of color as Vice President. Biden and Harris were declared winners of the presidential election after ballot-counting continued for days past Election Day due to unprecedented levels of mail-in votes cast amid the COVID-19 pandemic. President Donald Trump became the first president in U.S. history to be impeached twice, after being charged with incitement of insurrection after his supporters breached the US Capitol in an attempt to disrupt the certification of the 2020 Electoral College results.

FIRST U.S. SPACE FORCE LAUNCH

The U.S. Space Force completed their first-ever mission by launching the sixth AEHF-6 satellite into orbit on March 26. Sent by rocket from the Cape Canaveral Air Force Station in Cape Canaveral, Fla., the Advanced Extremely High Frequency satellite joined five others that circle the earth from 22,000 miles above, providing clear communication between the military and the government.

LOWEST-EVER OIL PRICES

Oil prices in the U.S. hit a historic low, falling to -$37.63 a barrel in April. Decreased demand due to the pandemic and lack of storage capacity for excess supply contributed to this drop. Oil companies resorted to renting tankers to store excess oil, reducing production and temporarily capping wells.

TOKYO OLYMPIC GAMES POSTPONED

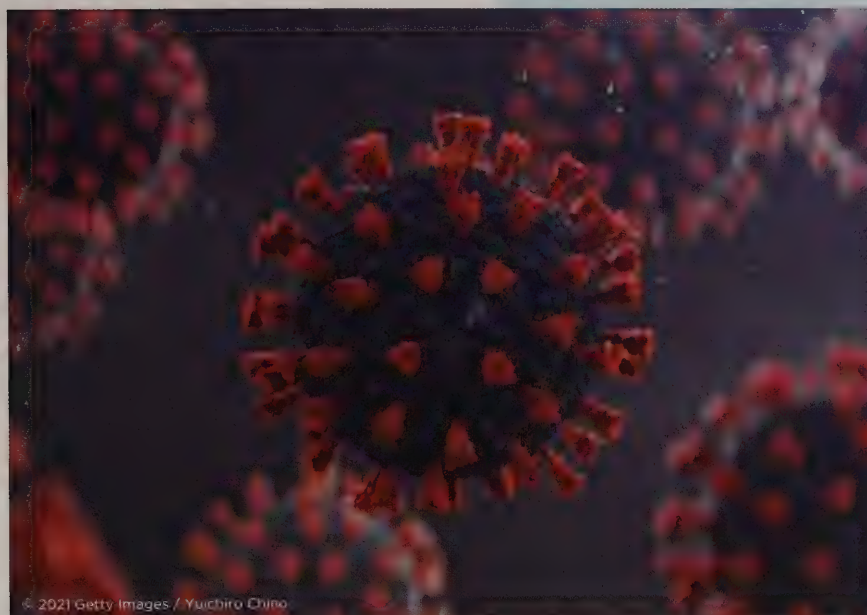

The 2020 Summer Olympic Games, scheduled to be hosted by Tokyo, Japan, were postponed until July 2021. The decision came after the World Health Organization cautioned Japan's leaders about the rapid spread of the coronavirus, while many countries and athletes expressed safety concerns. The leaders hoped their decision would allow the world time to recover from the pandemic but will plan to continue with or without COVID-19.

Thousands marched for social justice and an end to systemic racial inequality throughout 2020, leading to pivotal and historical changes.

Notable changes include, but are not limited to:

- The Boston Arts Commission voted to remove an 1879 statue of a slave kneeling beneath Abraham Lincoln
- Mississippi redesigned its 126-year-old state flag without the Confederate symbol
- Big brands like Uncle Ben's dropped their racially stereotyped names and images
- Black American authors topped bestseller lists while the media showcased outstanding films by Black filmmakers
- Numerous sports teams changed their names or mascots, including the Washington Redskins football team dropping the Redskins name and the logo of an indigenous chief

CORONAVIRUS PANDEMIC

The unprecedented arrival of the highly contagious respiratory virus shook the world and prompted the largest quarantine in human history. Staying safe meant staying home, for work and for school. With over 87 million cases worldwide, borders closed, global death toll reached 1.8 million, hospitals hit capacity, face masks became mandates and social distancing was the only way to gather.

The U.S. government passed a $2 trillion relief package to help families and the economy through the COVID-19 pandemic. The package included one-time payments of $1,200 to individuals and $500 per child under 18, and expanded unemployment benefits by $600 per week for 4 months. The last time the government passed a relief package was during the 2008 Great Recession, when Americans received tax rebates of $600 per individual, and $300 per minor child.

SUPREME COURT CHANGES

US Supreme Court Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg died at age 87, leaving behind a legacy of defending women's and minorities' rights since the 1970s. In October, Amy Coney Barrett was confirmed with a 52-48 Senate vote to succeed Ginsburg.

CORONAVIRUS DASHBOARD TRACKED BY MILLIONS

Millions worldwide tracked the coronavirus online by utilizing a number of COVID-19 dashboards. One of the most popular is the JHU dashboard, created by a small team from Johns Hopkins University. The interactive trackers provide up-to-the-minute COVID-19 statistics for countries, states and cities across the globe. As one of the leading sources on the coronavirus, the dashboards compile information from the World Health Organization, U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, and other health authorities.

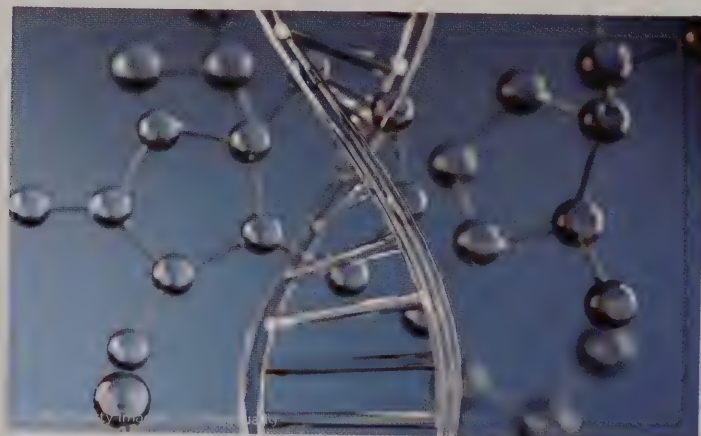

Time Magazine's 100 Best Inventions of 2020 showcased new ideas that were good for our health and the environment. Bees can thrive longer thanks to Beewise, an artificial intelligence-powered hive that provides automatic temperature and pest control. Clean drinking water in 60 seconds, anyone? CrazyCap water bottles feature a cap that sanitizes water using UVC light. And for earth-friendly toothbrushing, Tom's of Maine created the first recyclable toothpaste tube.

PERSONALIZED DRUGS TREAT RARE DISEASES

New drugs that can be tailored to a person's genes are being developed to treat rare diseases caused by genetic mistakes. The first successful medicine of this kind was developed for 6-year-old Mila Makovec, who has a fatal inherited brain disorder. Neurologist and neurogeneticist Timothy Yu and his team developed a custom treatment for Mila's disease-causing DNA mutation, and it stopped the disorder from progressing. Researchers are continuing to develop such DNA-related solutions.

5G ROLLOUT ARRIVES IN U.S.

The highly anticipated rollout of 5G wireless networks began this year, as mobile phone carriers gradually began building out their coverage and releasing 5G-enabled phones. 5G offers super-fast downloads, millisecond response time and room for more devices. The technology is said to be key to innovations in robots, hospital equipment, self-driving cars and beyond.

A.I. HELPING FIRST RESPONDERS

Artificial intelligence and machine learning began helping first responders in life-saving ways. Drones and robots were employed to protect firefighters by entering hazardous areas for them. These included the remote control-powered Thermite RS3, a small tank-like vehicle with the ability to spray water from a front nozzle, clear heavy debris and record video. The NeuroFlow app was also used by firefighters, medics and other emergency workers, to detect and monitor mental health issues.

ANTI-AGEING MEDICINES IN THE WORKS

Scientists are developing medicines that would slow the ageing process but allow people to grow older, healthily. The treatment, called senolytics, would target the harmful cells that contribute to ageing and diseases that come with it, including cancer, heart disease, and dementia. Though the release of the therapy is still years away, researchers are hopeful that senolytics could go beyond simply treating the symptoms of aging, and instead combat the causes from the start.

CONNECTING BY VIRTUAL AND VIDEO APPS

The need for social distancing during the coronavirus pandemic transformed the way people came together. Workplaces turned to virtual environment providers like 6Connex to hold large virtual summits and conferences, and video apps including Zoom, Microsoft Teams and Google Hangouts for meetings. Outside of work, people sought virtual headsets to transport themselves to social hangouts like dance clubs, without leaving home. And for milestones like birthdays and weddings, video apps again united everyone safely.

SCIENCE & DISCOVERY

Scientists discovered a coral reef towering higher than New York's Empire State Building, in the Great Barrier Reef. Located off the coast of Northern Queensland, Australia, the 1,640-ft. structure sits 130 ft. below the ocean surface and stretches nearly a mile wide. The reef is estimated to be 20 million years old at its deepest point, and is the first of its kind to be found in 120 years.

SPACEX LAUNCHES FIRST COMMERCIAL FLIGHT

The SpaceX capsule made history on May 30 as the first astronaut mission to be launched into orbit by a privately-owned company. This is also the first time since 2011 that an orbital human spaceflight departed from American soil. NASA teamed up with SpaceX to send astronauts Bob Behnken and Doug Hurley to the International Space Station for 63 days.

ANCIENT FOREST FOUND

An ancient forest was discovered 60 feet underwater, off the coast of Alabama. The cypress grove, which had lived during an ice age, had been hidden under a thick layer of sediment for about 60,000 years. The debris kept the forest preserved until Hurricane Ivan uncovered it in 2004. Scientists since began collecting wood samples and discovered more than 300 animals living within it, plus bacteria that may help create future medicines.

TASMANIAN DEVILS RETURN

Twenty-six Tasmanian devils were released back to Australia, 3,000 years after they had become extinct on the mainland. Freed to a wildlife sanctuary in New South Wales, the animals had been raised by conservationists in Tasmania, where the remaining population lives. The conservationists believe reintroducing the predators to their former home will protect smaller endangered species from feral animals, and keep the environment healthy by spreading seeds while digging.

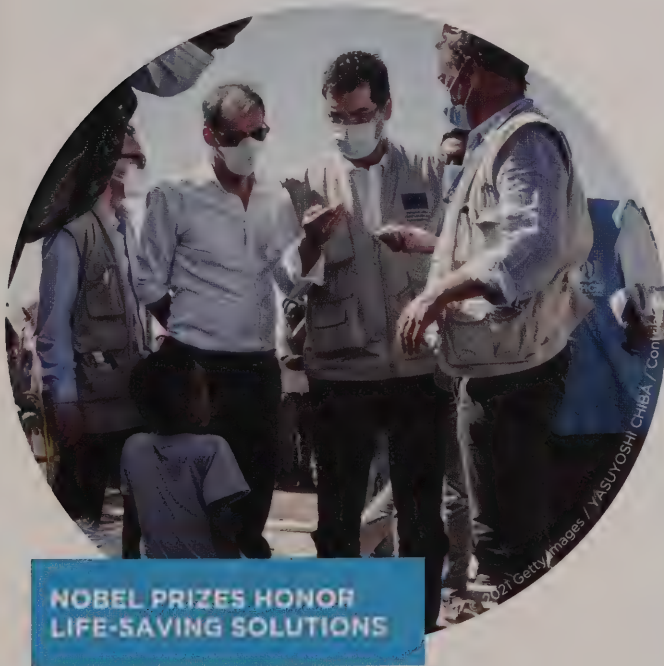

STONEHENGE MYSTERY SOLVED

Thousands of years after Stonehenge was mysteriously built in Southern England, scientists uncovered where the giant sandstones came from. Using special tools, researchers tested the chemical composition of the sandstones and compared it to the stones in 20 other sites. The rocks were a perfect match to those in the West Woods, just 16 miles away from Stonehenge. It remains a mystery how the ancient people moved the stones, or why the monument was built.

GIANT HORNETS INVADE

Asian giant hornets were discovered far from home in Washington State and Canada, prompting urgent measures to stop the spread. The hornets, posing little danger to humans other than a venomous sting, feed on honeybees, which are critical for pollinating raspberry and blueberry crops. By trapping and tracking the insects, scientists hoped to locate and exterminate the nests before they could repopulate within the well-suited moderate climate.

NOBEL PRIZES HONOR LIFE-SAVING SOLUTIONS

The 2020 Nobel Peace Prize went to the World Food Programme, a United Nations agency that provides emergency and development support to undernourished countries. The agency was praised for building sustainability within communities by helping them to feed themselves. Emmanuelle Charpentier and Jennifer A. Doudna received the Nobel Prize in Chemistry for their life-changing solution, CRISPR/Cas9 genetic scissors. The tool can change the DNA of plants, animals and micro-organisms, aiding in the treatment of diseases.

NEW DINOSAUR DISCOVERED

A new type of dinosaur was uncovered by paleontologists at the University of Southampton, England, after back, neck and tail bones were found on the shore of the nearby Isle of Wight. The dinosaur, named Vectaerovenator inopinatus, is believed to have been 13 feet long, walked on two legs and related to the Tyrannosaurus Rex.

COVID-19

ENTERTAINMENT FOR RELIEF

Over the year, many live entertainment programs and award shows were postponed and canceled but, to help those affected by the pandemic, some events were hosted virtually or socially distanced to raise funds for coronavirus relief.

ONE WORLD: TOGETHER AT HOME GLOBAL SPECIAL

Lady Gaga teamed up with the World Health Organization to co-host the Global Citizen for One World: Together at Home. The livestreamed benefit concert raised $127M for COVID-19 relief efforts.

THE MATCH: CHAMPIONS FOR CHARITY

The Match paired golf pro Tiger Woods and former National Football League quarterback Peyton Manning against golf pro Phil Mickelson and Tampa Bay Buccaneers quarterback Tom Brady for COVID-19 relief. The Woods and Manning team won and the event raised $20M.

iHEART LIVING ROOM CONCERT FOR AMERICA

Elton John hosted the iHeart Living Room Concert for America which featured artists like Billie Eilish, Sam Smith, Camilla Cabello, and others. The event brought in $10M for Feeding America and the First Responders Children's Foundation.

PROFESSIONAL SPORTING EVENTS

COVID-19 was a definite game-changer when it came to professional as well as local sporting events. Spotighting the health and safety of all involved, events were delayed, cancelled, modified or held virtually.

MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL (MLB)

With a delayed start, the season resumed with new safety precautions, a reduced number of games and playing in empty stadiums.

VIRTUAL MARATHONS

With the cancellation of large-scale running races, events invited runners to participate virtually, using an app that tracked their miles.

NATIONAL FOOTBALL LEAGUE (NFL)

Season started on time, but with health and safety protocols in-place like the cancellation of games and playing in empty or limited capacity stadiums.

NATIONAL WOMEN'S SOCCER LEAGUE (NWSL)

Replacing the entire season with the 2020 NWSL Challenge Cup, NWSL played in a month-long tournament in an empty stadium.

NATIONAL BASKETBALL ASSOCIATION (NBA)

Following the shutdown of the 2020 NBA season, the top 22 teams were selected to finish the competition in a bubble at Walt Disney World in Orlando, Fla.

NATIONAL HOCKEY LEAGUE (NHL)

Canada agreed to open their country's borders to host 24 NHL teams for the play-offs. Games were scheduled to continue through to the Stanley Cup Championship.

STAYING AT HOME: UNEXPECTED SHORTAGES AROUND THE U.S.

With the coronavirus forcing millions to spend more time at home, people were faced with shortages of ordinary household items that were suddenly in demand. These included toilet paper, household cleaning products, flour, and surprisingly, jigsaw puzzles. The demand caused prices to increase on some products, and also prompted sellers to place limits on how much of an item could be bought.

CORONAVIRUS SURGE CAUSES SECOND SHUTDOWN

With coronavirus patients filling hospitals to capacity, U.S. states that had reopened after the end of the first quarantine were again forced to place restrictions on businesses and daily living. Each state's governor and the local governments of districts reinstated limits based on the rate of the virus in the area. Schools, restaurants, bars and gyms were among the venues reclosing, while wearing masks became a requirement for many stores.

VACCINE ROLLOUT

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration approved 2 vaccines to fight the coronavirus. The Pfizer-BioNTech injection received the go-ahead to administer before the close of 2020, followed by the Moderna vaccine. Frontline healthcare workers, nursing home residents and politicians were among the first to be immunized, as distribution to the general public continued into 2021. Each vaccine requires 2 doses and has an effective rate of over 90%.

ESSENTIAL WORKERS NAMED 2020 PERSON OF THE YEAR

Time Magazine's 2020 Person of the Year Reader Poll named essential workers as the people who had the most impact on this year. People around the globe showed their appreciation for workers on the front lines of the coronavirus through cheering, clapping or other loud noises from their windows, front steps and balconies. As part of the #ClapBecauseWeCare movement, citizens were encouraged to stop and recognize essential workers such as healthcare workers, police, grocery store employees and others risking their lives during the pandemic.

VIRAL VIDEO ENTERTAINMENT

Viral TikTok and YouTube videos provided endless entertainment during the pandemic. Nathan Apodaca turned a truck breakdown into the coolest longboard commute while lip-syncing Fleetwood Mac and sipping on a bottle of Ocean Spray's Cran-Raspberry juice. Nick Uhas and David Dobrik stunned viewers by producing the world's largest amount of foam. Contagious dances were choreographed by teens, from Jalaiah Harmon's "Renegade" to Haley Sharpe's interpretation of Doja Cat's "Say So."

WORLD'S GREENEST COUNTRIES

The world's greenest countries of 2020 were named by researchers from Yale and Columbia Universities. The top 10 were from Europe and included Denmark at no. 1, followed by Luxembourg, Switzerland and the United Kingdom. Denmark has long been known for its commitment to clean air and recycling, and Switzerland, for protecting its environment. Meanwhile, Luxembourg became the first country to offer free public transportation, while the U.K. banned plastic straws, stirrers and cotton buds.

2020 FASHIONS FLAUNT PAST FAVORITES

This year's fashion trends featured many favorites from the past. Earthy neutrals in browns, khaki and olive greens dominated the runways, while 1990s trends took over in the form of flannels, cargo pants, fanny packs and track suits. In fact, tie-dye athleisure (and anything else in the eye-popping style) were all the rage. And let's not forget those playful puff sleeves on tops, dresses and jackets, adding instant "pow" to feminine or edgy looks.

UFO VIDEOS CONFIRMED

Years after three videos showing unidentified flying objects began circulating on the internet, the U.S. Pentagon confirmed that the footage was real. A clip filmed in 2004 by U.S. Navy pilots shows a round object soaring above the Pacific Ocean, while two others recorded by pilots in 2017 reveal mysterious aircrafts flying ahead of them, one of which is rotating. The sightings remain unexplained, with the Pentagon calling them "unexplained aerial phenomena."

HARRY AND MEGHAN STEP DOWN FROM ROYAL DUTIES

Prince Harry and wife Meghan Markle made headlines by announcing their plan to step back from their official royal duties. This included splitting their time between North America and Great Britain and becoming financially independent, while still supporting the Queen and charities.

TIME HONORS 1ST KID OF THE YEAR

Time honored the first-ever Kid of the Year, 15-year-old Gitanjali Rao. The American scientist and inventor uses technology to create solutions for contaminated water, cyberbullying and more. After being selected from more than 5,000 candidates, Rao said she is dedicated to creating a global community of young innovators to solve problems of the world.

PLANT BASED MEAT HITS MAINSTREAM

In response to the growing number of people choosing healthier options for themselves and the environment, plant-based alternatives for meat finally hit the mainstream. McDonald's introduced their first meatless burger, the McPlant, following other fast food giants who had begun using plant-based meat substitutes in recent years, including Burger King, Dunkin' Donuts and Subway. Sales of plant-based meat continue to soar.
